EUROPEAN CHAMPIONS

The European road championships for professionals took place for the first time in 2016. For the race of the Men Elite, Peter Sagan was the first to add his name to the honours board. In the years that followed, the Slovakian was joined by Alexander Kristoff, Matteo Trentin, Elia Viviani, Giacomo Nizzolo, Sonny Colbrelli, Fabio Jakobsen and Christophe Laporte.

The first European time trial champion was Spaniard Jonathan Castroviejo. He won the first fight against the clock. In the next two years, Victor Campenaerts proved to be the strongest time trialist. To date, the Belgian shares the title of record holder with the Swiss Stefan Küng. Other winners of the title European time trial champion are Remco Evenepoel, Stefan Bissegger and Joshua Tarling.

Among the Women Elite, Anna van der Breggen was the first to be crowned European champion on the road. As with the men, no woman has yet managed to win the title more than once. In addition to Van der Breggen, six other Dutch women feature on the honours board: Marianne Vos, Amy Pieters, Annemiek van Vleuten, Ellen van Dijk, Lorena Wiebes and Mischa Bredewold. To date, Italy's Marta Bastianelli is the only non-Dutch winner.

After eight editions of the European women's time trial championships, only three names appear on the honours board. Ellen van Dijk was the first to don the European jersey. The Dutch rider only relinquished it to her compatriot Anna van der Breggen four years later. From 2021 to 2023, Marlen Reusser was the fastest each time. The Swiss rider will have the chance to become co-record holder in Limburg.

THE EUROPEAN CHAMPIONSHIP IN LIMBURG

In both the men's and women's events, the participants are divided into three categories: elite, U23 and juniors. Three disciplines are featured: road cycling, individual time trial and mixed team time trial.

The U23 Men's and U23 Women's road races are on the programme for Friday, September 13. On Saturday, the road races for the Men Juniors and Women Elite are scheduled. The Championships conclude on Sunday 15 September with the road races for the Women Juniors and Men Elite.

THE COURSE THE START AND FINISH

All races will be contested between Heusden-Zolder and Hasselt. The individual time trials, mixed team time trials and the road races all start at the Heusden-Zolder velodrome. The starting shot will be given in the shadow of this brand new indoor velodrome, next to the BMX course which has already hosted European and world championships in the past. The Limburg provincial capital, Hasselt, serves as the finish for all the races. The finishing line will be situated on Koning Boudewijnlaan, near to Kolonel Dusartplein, in the centre of the 'Capital of Taste'.

THE TIME TRIALS

For their individual time trial,all categories, except the women juniors, tackle the same course. The riders face a journey of 31.3 km, the first metres of which are on the Circuit of Zolder. After that, the course takes the riders via the centre of Heusden-Zolder, the De Wijers nature reserve and the Albert Canal towards the finish in Hasselt.

In the mixed team time trial, the men start again at the Heusden-Zolder velodrome, this time for a ride of 28.4 km. The course is largely the same as that of the individual time trials. Once in Hasselt, the women take over the proverbial baton on the Kolonel Dusartplein. They then ride two loops of the Hasselt Circuit that is also part of the road races. After 24 km, the women finish their race on Koning Boudewijnlaan at the same spot where the individual time trials finish.

THE ROAD RACES

The road races also start in Heusden-Zolder. After the start in Heusden-Zolder, the peloton winds its way through places such as Zonhoven as it heads towards Hasselt and the city circuit for the first time. The course for the road races is made up of the Hasselt city loop, on the one hand, and the Limburg loop on the other. The Hasselt loop is a flat circuit through the provincial capital and adjacent Diepenbeek.

Between the Hasselt loop and the Limburg loop, there is a connecting strip which includes the cobblestones of the Printhagendreef in Kortessem. In the Borgloon region, the peloton enters the Limburg loop, with the Manshoven and Op de Kriezel cobblestone stretches and the Kolmontberg and Zammelenberg climbs. From there, the course takes the riders back to Hasselt via the connecting strip. The number of times a category completes the Limburg or Hasselt loop depends on the total distance to be covered. The Women Elite face a course of 162.1 km. At the finishing line on Koning Boudewijnlaan in Hasselt, the Men Elite will have covered 222.9 km.
